Description of the main features of the internal control and risk management systems in relation to the financial reporting process

Control environment

Control operations are embedded in the organization of Suominen. Controlling is executed in connection with steering of business processes and in wide-ranging reporting processes.

Suominen has no separate organization for internal audit. The company purchases internal audit services from an external partner. Suominen's control environment is based on given instructions, business culture and on the way of working adopted by company's managers and employees. Suominen has established its values or principles, which encourage everyone at Suominen to an active and ethical way of working both with various stakeholders and within the Group. In cascading the working principles in the organization, honesty, transparency and working in teams are integral parts in establishing high moral behavior throughout the company.

The foundation of the internal control process relating to the financial reporting is built up around the Group's policies approved by the Board of Directors and other directives and instructions. The responsibility structure of the Group is based on authority inherent in the positions and work descriptions, segregation of duties and the "two-eyes" and "one-over" principles. Effective internal control requires that duties are properly allocated to employees and potential conflicts of interests are identified and eliminated. Satisfactory control environment is ensured through internal analyses and evaluations of key processes as well as through revisions made by external auditors.

The Group Finance supports the business units in analyzing their performance and in the decision-making concerning various business choices. Business Controllers at unit level have the task to ensure that the control procedures are in place at various units. ICT function's role is to maintain the security checks of ICT systems throughout the Group companies.

Risk assessment

Risk management is considered an integral part of running the business, and identification and assessment of risk is an essential element of internal control. The aim is to focus on the material risks that are significant from the business perspective. Risks are categorized into business risks caused by changes in the business environment and operational risks, which may be a result of shortcomings in the way that the organization manages its processes.

Operational risks are considered to have a potential material value in transactions with external parties. However, Group instructions, process check-ups, allocation of tasks and standards set up by total quality operating systems help to establish a prudent environment, in which exposure to material risks can be mitigated.

Risks relating to financial reporting are evaluated and monitored by the Board, aiming to ensure that the financial reporting of the corporation is reliable, supports decision making and serves the needs of external stakeholders. Valuation of assets and liabilities according to various evaluation assumptions and criteria may constitute a risk.

Estimates and assumptions involving a significant risk of causing material changes in the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities are continuously evaluated and benchmarked against other similar entities. Complex and/or changing business circumstances may present a challenge when assessing the carrying amounts of assets. To avoid errors in stating the fair values of assets or liabilities, regular check-ups are made, e.g. by comparing material flows, values, and quantity and quality data with the information given in the accounts. The risk of errors caused by irregularities and discontinuities in information is reduced by using established and automated system-based audit trails.

Control activities

The control activities include general as well as detailed controls, which aim at preventing, revealing and correcting errors and deviations. In addition to the Group level instructions, control activities are also conducted at unit and plant levels.

Several control activities are applied in the ongoing business processes to ensure that potential errors or deviations in the financial reporting are prevented, discovered and corrected. Suominen divides control activities into following three categories. Documented instructions help the organization to standardize the monitoring of tasks. Continuous and regular reporting conveying feedback on performance of Group functions and entities ensures that instructions and defined processes are followed. In critical processes, specific authorizations are needed in the work-flow, either for security or verification needs.

In practice, control activities are conducted in management group meetings, where results of the activities are reviewed. More focused control is exercised when specific reconciliation of accounts or analyses of the processes for financial reporting are conducted. The need for separate evaluations, as well as their scope and frequency, will be defined by assessing risks and the effectiveness of ongoing monitoring procedures. It is the responsibility of Business Controllers to ensure that control activities in the financial processes are appropriate and in accordance with the Group's policies and instructions. Information security and related control activities play a key role when the features of ICT systems are being defined and applied.

Information and communication

The Group Accounting manual, policies approved by the Board and other directives and instructions relating to the financial reporting are updated and communicated on a regular basis from management to all affected employees and are also available in the intranet systems of Group companies. In addition, a standard reporting package is used by the units. The Group management and the business unit management conduct monthly reviews that include analysis of performance metrics and indicators assisting the management to better understand the underlying business performance.

Follow-up

Ongoing responsibility for follow-up rests with the business units' management groups and controller functions. In addition, separate internal control reviews on key financial processes are conducted with external auditors on a rolling basis. The results of the reviews are reported to employees involved.

Regular inspections by quality auditors or customer audit personnel cover also the internal controls of delivery chain processes.

The Group's Finance function monitors the operations and processes of the group units and the accuracy of external and internal financial reporting.
